Cuba Counts On Soviet To Back Regime

Russian Aid Is Expected In Fight With U.S.

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's economic czar, is heading for a tour of the Communist bloc after telling a nationwide TV audience the Fidel Castro regime is counting on Soviet aid to help defeat any U.S. economic or military intervention.

The leftist president of the Cuban National Bank spoke of Soviet bloc economic help, rockets and volunteers in an address Thursday night, on the eve of his departure for Moscow as the director of a nine-man trade-building mission.

Mentions Volunteers
Guevara mentioned the volunteers casually in connection with a promise that new friends will help the revolutionary government survive, whatever actions the United States takes.

Reports have circulated abroad that 3,000 Communist Czechoslovak soldiers are training to serve in Cuba. But Guevara's statement was the first by any government official that any such help is promised if Cuba needs it.

"Volunteers" have been a prime weapon in Communist strategy since Red China sent thousands of its regulars across the Yalu River under that label 10 years ago to battle U.N. forces in Korea.

Questioned about the state of Cuba's foreign exchange, Guevara said Cuba's balance by year-end should be at a $100 million level, "as compared to $46 million at the end of 1959."

Figures Are Surprise
These figures were a surprise, since Castro said in a recent speech Cuban foreign reserves stood at $214 million. The regime owes U.S. suppliers more than $100 million.

In confident phrases, Guevara discounted the effectiveness of the U.S. economic embargo.

He predicted American black marketers will help to break it.

Commenting on the recall of U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal, Guevara said he considered it "of no particular significance." He recalled Cuba hasn't had an ambassador in Washington for some time.

Huge Heroin Cache Seized

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI)—A $5 million shipment of heroin was seized on the New York State Thruway Friday only a few hours after it arrived from Italy.

Police watched a coffin-like box being removed from the liner Saturday and loaded aboard a panel truck.

They then trailed the truck and an accompanying automobile until they started to leave the thruway at an exit near the Yonkers shopping center.

The two vehicles were stopped and Salvatore Rinaldo, 46, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., and Matthew Palmeri, 50, of New York, were arrested.

Sheriff John Hoy of Westchester County said Rinaldo tried to run him down but stopped when he saw the sheriff draw two guns.

The heroin, with an estimated retail value of $5 million, was found hidden under a false bottom in the box.

Boy, 4, Worried About Santa, Falls In Chimney

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Well, it's only two months to Christmas and 4-year-old William Soloninka began wondering.

He and a friend, Robert Clark, had to see for themselves. They fashioned a Rube Goldberg-type contraption of rope, a plank and more than a little daring to get from a tree to the rooftop of the house where Clark's uncle lived.

Katanga Seeks Removal Of UN Attache

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe of secessionist Katanga Province demanded Friday night immediate removal of the senior U.N. representative here and part of his military staff.

Tshombe called the official, Ian Berendsen, "totally inefficient." He said Berendsen and his aides are working against the good of Katanga.

He read a hurriedly prepared statement at a surprise news conference at his home.

"The representative has been working with such bad faith that I consider myself obliged to demand as from tomorrow his immediate recall along with part of the military staff at the U.N. headquarters in Elisabethville. I am deeply convinced it is impossible to work honestly with them," the statement said.

The dispute boiled up over what Tshombe charged was scandalous behavior of U.N. Ethiopian troops in the northern town of Kabalo.

The news conference was called by Tshombe after a two-hour meeting with Katanga delegates who visited Kabalo to investigate reports of looting by Ethiopian troops.

Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, who had led the Katanga group of the joint U.N.-Katanga government mission, claimed U.N. operations in Kabalo "is a scandal such as never before has been seen."

Berendsen, who led the U.N. section, insisted the position was completely under control of U.N. forces but admitted that some Ethiopians had appropriated some bed linen.

Helen Hayes Hosts Party For Pat Nixon

Several other Broadway and Hollywood stars also were there—Rosalind Russell, George Murphy, Constance Bennett, Franchot Tone, Iika Chase, Katherine Murray and Tina Louise.

Cartoonist Al Capp, beauty expert Anita Colby, stage producer Jean Dailymple, Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, Mrs. Ogden Reid, Mrs. Gardner Cowles and Jinx Falkenberg also were there.

And there it was—the chimney. They had both seen the fireplace end of it. But this was something different.

William decided to shimmy down the chimney. He got part way down with no trouble—then the chimney widened—and, plunk. He slid all the way to the bottom.

"It's dark in here," he cried. His mother called the fire department who got him out with a rope.

Sooty, unharmed but with bruised feelings, he was carted home by his mother for a bath.

RR Freight Rate Hike Approved

ICC Approves Boost Effective On Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission reported Friday the railroads in critical need of more money and authorized a nationwide freight rate increase expected to add more than $140 million to annual revenues.

In granting the general increase in interstate rates effective next Monday, the ICC approved all but a minor part of the revenue-raising proposals submitted by the carriers last September.

It denied some specific rate increase requests and ordered further study of several service charge changes. However, rail sources estimated these would have added only a few million dollars in over-all income.

Add $147 Million
In making the original requests, the Association of American Railroads estimated full authorization of the changes would have added $147 million in annual revenue. The industry estimates its annual expenses have increased $600 million since the 1958 rate boost which was the latest one granted by the ICC.

The basic increase approved allows an advance of half a cent on rates up to 65 cents a 100 pounds and a cent on rates over 65 cents.

The commission refused any rate increases on fruits and vegetables and petroleum coke, the residue of petroleum distillation which is used in metallurgical processes. It directed that new rate proposals be submitted with increases limited to $2 a car on fruits and vegetables and seven cents a ton on petroleum coke.

The commission permitted increases in rates on soft coal and iron ore and in switching charges subject to further study and possible revocation. All the increases were contingent on the railroads' pledge to make refunds to shippers on any boosts later found by the ICC to be unreasonable.

Blocks Charges
The order blocked the following changes, pending further study: Imposition of a uniform 5-day "free time" allowance on cars before demurrage charges are started at ports. At present these free time allowances are 15 days at Atlantic ports, 10 days at Pacific and Gulf ports and seven on the Great Lakes.

A new charge of five cents a hundred pounds for stopping grain more than twice in transit. At present three such stops are allowed.

An increase in charges for detaining cars at industrial plants. New minimum charges for freight car use, amounting to $60 a car in Eastern territory and $40 in Southern and Western areas.

Astronauts To Make 1961 Rocket Flight
LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—America's Project Mercury astronauts are scheduled to make their first flights in a rocket early in 1961, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Friday.

The first flights will be made using a Redstone missile booster, NASA said.

The announcement followed completion of a third training program in the Navy's centrifuge at Johnsville, Pa., where all seven astronauts have been undergoing intensive training on simulated Redstone flights since Oct. 3.

In the Redstone flights, the astronauts will not go into orbit. They will be shot into the atmosphere, however, coming down at sea.

Charges Persecution
TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China charged Friday that American Negroes are being "mercilessly persecuted by the racists," with tacit approval and encouragement by the American government. The New China news agency, in a broadcast monitored here, was commenting on the arrest of the Rev. Martin Luther King in an Atlanta sit-in demonstration.

Wants New System
SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI)—Rhodesian federation premier Sir Roy Welensky said Thursday night that Britain is not taking a realistic line in Africa because it fears United Nations interference. He said Britain also fears losing the domestic "marginal vote" and "open conflict with the commonwealth's colored races." Welensky called for a "new, strong commonwealth system replacing the old."

Soviet Bloc Won't Pay For U.N. In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet bloc countries served notice Friday they will refuse to pay for any part of what they called "the dirty" U.N. operation in the Congo. The move was denounced by the United States as aimed at wrecking the United Nations.

Czech delegate Miroslav Nacvalac, acting as spokesman for the Soviet bloc, accused the United Nations of playing a "dirty role" in the Congo and charged Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold with hypocrisy and showing partiality to the West.

His statement in the General Assembly's 99-nation Budget Committee confronted the world organization with a long-threatened financial crisis. It had implications for the United States, which will ultimately pay for the major cost of the Congo operation, estimated to reach between $150 and $200 million by the end of next year.

Albert F. Bender, U.S. delegate, called the Czech statement "one of the most deplorable ever made in this body."

He said that by charging the United Nations with playing a dirty role Nacvalac insulted Hammarskjold, the U.S. government and all nations who voted to establish the U.N. force in the Congo.

The Soviet bloc move came amid reports of sharp differences in the 45-nation Asian-African bloc over attempts by Ghana, Guinea, India, Morocco and the United Arab Republic to win a General Assembly seat for the representatives of Soviet-supported Congo premier.

A recent private meeting of the Asian-African group on the issue became so uproarious it had to adjourn without reaching any decision, reliable informants said. Some former members of the French African community bitterly opposed seating of the Lumumba group. The Congo's seat is now vacant, pending a recommendation from the assembly's Steering Committee.

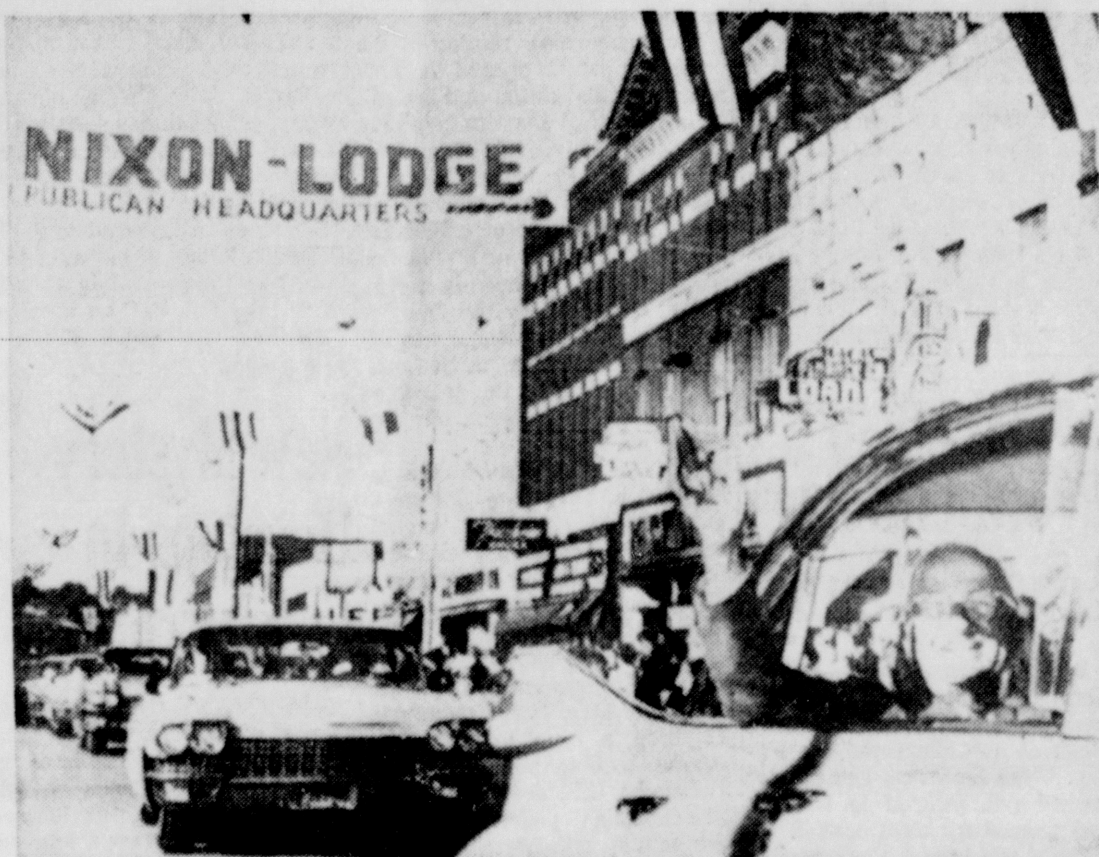

NATO Nations Discuss Long Range Program
WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman said Friday the United States has been holding informal discussions with other North Atlantic treaty countries on long range plans for the Western alliance. These are known to include the possibility of an independent nuclear rocket force for NATO.

Press officer Joseph Reap declared, however, that no U.S. position has been determined on the issues involved and therefore the United States has not made any proposals to its allies.

A State Department study group, headed by former policy planning chief Robert Bowie, proposed to Secretary Christian A. Herter the possible development of a nuclear submarine force capable of firing Polaris nuclear missiles which would be under the direction of the supreme commander of NATO, an American officer. The commander would have authority to order the U.S. president to deploy the rockets fired in event the Soviet Union attacked a NATO country with nuclear weapons.

Reap's statement was prompted by reports originating with British government officials Thursday that the U.S. plans had been brought to the attention of the London government. Reports from other European capitals have caused speculation the United States would move rapidly to provide the Western alliance with its own nuclear arm.

Bishops Create Furore In San Juan Election

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Three Roman Catholic bishops of Puerto Rico kicked up a political storm Friday with a pastoral letter forbidding Catholics to vote for Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's popular Democratic party.

Munoz Marin, seeking re-election as governor of this U.S. island commonwealth Nov. 8, issued a statement declaring the bishop's letter "is incredible and unjust intervention in political liberties of Puerto Rican citizens."

Puerto Ricans, lacking statehood, do not vote for president of the United States.

As published in the independent newspaper El Mundo, the pastoral letter took issue with Munoz Marin's administration on three issues—religious instruction in schools, a law permitting teaching of birth control and allowing sterilization, and public tolerance of common law marriages.

"It is our obligation to prohibit Catholics from giving their votes to a party that accepts as its own the morality of the regime of liberty negating Christian morals," it said.

If the letter has any influence on the election, the beneficiary would be the newly formed Christian Action party, whose formation was criticized by the Popular Democrats as an attempt to mix religion and politics.

Salvador Perea, candidate of the Christian Action party, had no comment on the pastoral letter. It was signed by Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, Bishop James E. McManus of Ponce and Bishop Luis Aponte Martinez, titular bishop of Lares.

The governor, who attends the Catholic Church, declared the bishop's letter "has the character of medieval obscurantism." He said the Popular Democratic party will continue to defend religion and the church "against the grave errors of a number of our priests."

In New York, Sen. John F. Kennedy, Roman Catholic candidate for president on the Democratic ticket, disagreed with the right of the clergy to instruct parishioners on how to vote.

The senator's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said in a statement: "Senator Kennedy has stated on many occasions that he considers it wholly improper and alien to our democratic system for churchmen of any faith to tell the members of their church for whom to vote or for whom not to vote."

Betancourt Calls Cabinet Meeting
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Amid antigovernment demonstrations, President Romulo Betancourt met with his Cabinet in special session Friday on steps to draw a line of defense in international relations.

"I don't believe in taking the Communists into my confidence," Lodge declared. "I believe in keeping them guessing."

Lodge said he is opposed to "making Cuba another Hungary" in which the United States would play the part in Cuba that the Soviet Union did in putting down the Hungarian uprising.

"We would never do what the Soviet did in Hungary," Lodge said. "And we would never have to."

Phone Co. Seeks Private Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said Friday it hopes to put up within a year the first commercial space satellite as the forerunner of a communications relay network in the sky.

The orbiting sphere would be used to transmit telephone calls, television and other types of communication between the United States, the United Kingdom and Europe.

The initial transmissions would be experimental. Following satisfactory tests, the company said, commercial service would be offered to the public.

AT&T applied to the Federal Communications Commission for authority to go ahead with the project. It said it is ready to contract for launching of the satellite and to begin construction of ground transmission and receiving stations.

Administrator T. Keith Glennan of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has said NASA will make available to private companies at cost rockets, launching and tracking facilities and technical services. AT&T said it would work closely with NASA.

The only artificial earth satellites launched thus far have been under government control, by this country and the Soviet Union.

AT&T made no estimate of the total costs of the project, which it said it will finance and operate in coordination with telephone administrations abroad.

It said the system it contemplates will include an unspecified number of satellites, and that when they are in production the cost to put each one into space will be about $1 million.

The satellites AT&T proposes will orbit at an altitude of 2,200 miles.

Lodge Deplores Islands Issue
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Republican vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge described Friday the question of defense of Quemoy and Matsu an "unfortunate" issue which has no place in a political campaign.

Invading the Democratic stronghold of Milwaukee for a one-day whirlwind tour, Lodge said that "delicate, pressing questions with strong military overtones" do not belong in a campaign.

"I think it impossible for anyone to say what is going to be defensible in the future," Lodge said. "Not even the chiefs of staff know what the situation will be a year from now."

However, the former ambassador to the United Nations slapped at the stand of Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy by declaring it "dangerous" to draw a line of defense in international relations.

"I don't believe in taking the Communists into my confidence," Lodge declared. "I believe in keeping them guessing."

Lodge said he is opposed to "making Cuba another Hungary" in which the United States would play the part in Cuba that the Soviet Union did in putting down the Hungarian uprising.

"We would never do what the Soviet did in Hungary," Lodge said. "And we would never have to."

Nixon Says To Extend Our Freedom

Kennedy Claims Island Defense No Longer Issue

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Friday night the United States must not only keep freedom alive but extend it to all the world.

Nixon, in a statement opening the fourth of the historic Nixon-Kennedy debates, declared the Eisenhower administration has "never been willing to do anything that has in effect surrendered freedom anywhere in the world."

The vice president declared Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic opponent, would have abandoned "a piece of free territory" to the Communists. Eisenhower was right in rejecting that idea, he said.

Nixon referred to Quemoy and Matsu, the offshore China islands. Further, Nixon contended, communism cannot be fought by simply holding the line.

Kennedy started by saying he wants to correct the record of Quemoy and Matsu.

He said he voted for and sustained the 1955 resolution on Formosa.

Defends Islands
Kennedy said Nixon first said he would defend the offshore islands even if the attack on them was not part of an attack on Formosa. Kennedy said—and said this was Eisenhower policy—he would defend them if it were part of an attack.

He said he had checked back on testimony to Senate committees and is satisfied he is correct as to administration policy and his position—so, he said, this is no longer an issue.

"Is our prestige at an all-time high and that of the Communists at an all-time low?" he asked, calling this the Nixon position and the central issue.

Kennedy said he cannot agree to this. He said two Republican ambassadors to Cuba warned of Communist influence on Fidel Castro, but nothing was done.

"Can any American looking at Latin America feel secure about what is happening today?" he asked, saying a Brazilian presidential candidate found it necessary to call on Castro.

"We could not even get the inter-American group to join in a condemnation of Castro," he said, terming the statement adopted a vague one.

Kennedy said the Communists beam 10 times as many broadcasts to Latin America as does this country.

In Africa, he continued, there is a great need for technical assistance.

"And yet last year we gave them less than 5 per cent of all the technical assistance they needed," he declared. "Are we doing enough in these areas? What are we doing for freedom in these areas?"

He spoke in similar vein of the Middle East and Asia, asking who will dominate these areas in the next five years—communism or freedom?

Nixon Speaks First
Nixon spoke first, after the principals and the panelists were introduced. Both limited their opening statements to eight minutes. They faced questions from a panel of TV-radio news commentators.

In his opening statement, Nixon said in his travels in 48 states he has learned that one issue stands out above all else in the concern of every American—how can we keep the peace, keep it without surrender? How can we extend freedom, extend it without war?

"In determining how we deal with this issue, we must find the answer to a simple question—who threatens the peace?"

The only threat, he went on, is the international Communist movement, so we must know how to deal with the Communists and their leaders.

British Court Convenes In Hospital To Save Baby

CHAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—An ailing day-old baby moved out of danger Friday night after a historic court order allowed him to receive a blood transfusion in defiance of his parents' religious objections.

His parents are Jehovah's Witnesses.

"They are satisfied that the matter was taken out of their hands by the law," said a hospital spokesman, "so the onus of what they consider sin does not rest with them."

A makeshift Juvenile Court was hastily set up in the medical office of the hospital Thursday night when it was discovered the newborn child would need a complete change of blood to keep him from dying within hours of his birth.

Cuba Arrests Ohio Man For Aiding Foes

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban army announced Friday the arrest of Maj. William Morgan, an adventurer from Toledo, Ohio, who lost his U.S. citizenship for serving in Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces.

An army communique said Morgan and Maj. Jesus Carreras are under investigation on suspicion of having aided Escambray Mountain insurgents "at the direction of foreign interests."

Morgan came to Cuba in the early days of Castro's revolution. He became one of the leaders of a second revolutionary front established in the Escambray-Las Villas region. The area now is the scene of anti-Castro activity.

Morgan joined Castro in 1957 after learning that a friend had been killed by secret police of dictator Fulgencio Batista while smuggling arms to Castro rebels. Morgan led guerrilla fighters known as the "Tigers of Esperanza" in 15 battles against Batista forces.

The 31-year-old Morgan gained further prominence in August 1959 when he posed as an anti-Castro leader and baited a trap that led to the arrest of several hundred Cubans and a plane load of Castro enemies from the Dominican Republic.

During the affair, Morgan said he went to Miami and received thousands of dollars from representatives of the Dominican Republic.

Earlier this year, Morgan dropped his army work to direct an agricultural project centering on the raising of giant frogs for export to the United States and other markets.

Reports have been current for several days that Morgan either was under arrest or had defected to work with an underground movement.

Unconfirmed reports said Morgan's wife, a Cuban, also had been arrested.

Soviet Envoy Protests Bonn Leader's Words

BONN, Germany (AP)—A West German Cabinet minister made a remark about Communist imperialism at a public ceremony Friday. The Soviet ambassador flushed red, jumped to his feet and shouted a violent protest.

For a few hours, it appeared a sharp crisis might have occurred in West German-Soviet relations. But diplomats managed to smooth things over.

The incident took place at the opening of German-Africa Week at the Beethoven Hall.

Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov was in the audience, along with hundreds of Negro Africans, some of them in gaudily colored national costumes. Ludwig Erhard, the West German economics minister, greeted the crowd.

At one point in his speech, Erhard declared: "Colonialism has been conquered. Worse than colonialism, however, is the imperialism of totalitarian regimes with the stamp of communism."

In emulation of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in the U.N. General Assembly last week, Smirnov lunged to his feet and shouted: "What about the 20 million Russians the Germans annihilated in the war?"

He said a lot of other things, but his words were drowned out amid a tumultuous uproar in the audience. The Africans, however, sat politely still.

Erhard looked startled for a moment but then went on with his speech.

Smirnov, clad in a cutaway and striped trousers, started down the aisle, still shouting. Then he stopped and started for the door. A uniformed attendant escorted him out.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer later dispatched one of his ministers, Hans-Joachim von Merkatz, to the Soviet Embassy to express to the Bonn government's regrets. A government spokesman said this was by no means an apology. It was clear, however, that Bonn officials were a bit red-faced about the affair, particularly because Smirnov was an invited guest.

Youths, 17, Face Murder Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two 17-year-old boys, waived from Juvenile Court, Friday went before U.S. Commissioner James F. Spain on first-degree murder charges.

The pair, Richard Earl Smithy of Washington and Ronald F. Wynne of Camp Springs, Md., were held without bond in the rifle slaying last week of Harry H. Tolson Jr., 21.

The cases were continued until Nov. 8. Told by Spain of the charges, the boys said only that they wanted to "talk to a lawyer."

The shooting climaxed a feud over Tolson's 16-year-old fiancée, police said.

The Democratic Party has furnished only four presidents of the United States in the past 100 years—but they have served a total of 36 years.

Mobutu Troops Stand Firm In Congo Tempest

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu's troops firmly stood their ground Friday as the young military man fought to save his tottering military regime from collapse.

Mobutu's commando units successfully defied a curfew imposed by the Leopoldville provincial government, which remains loyal to deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The army also reinforced its protective cordon around the Leopoldville radio station and the editorial offices of the capital's only daily, the Courrier d'Afrique.

Provincial President Cleophas Kamitatu Thursday ordered all newspapers to cease publication for a month for having "incited racial strife." He sent his provincial police to occupy the Courrier offices and came personally to see that the order was carried out. For a few moments the policemen argued with the soldiers, but then moved off.

Kamitatu then went to the radio station, where he demanded permission to broadcast "an appeal to the population." He was refused admission by the soldiers. The Courrier appeared as usual Friday afternoon.

Mobutu is reported to have warned Rajeshwar Dayal, the U.N. chief here, that Kamitatu is preparing a coup to bring Lumumba back to power. He also protested a U.N. decision to place 372 Ghanaian policemen under Kamitatu's indirect control for maintaining order in the city.

Finch Jury Continues Its Deliberations

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The jury deliberated for the third day Friday in the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff, with no indication it could reach a verdict before the weekend recess.

The panel of 11 women and 1 man received the case Wednesday afternoon, after hearing testimony from 99 witnesses in one of the most publicized criminal court cases in California history.

Superior Judge Leroy Dawson announced that to avoid a repetition of jury conflict that marred the first trial, deliberations would be limited daily Monday through Friday, with half-day sessions on Saturday. The jury will not meet Sunday if a verdict has not been reached by then.

Finch, 43, is charged with the deliberate killing of his wife, Barbara Jean Finch, on July 18, 1959. Finch insists it was an accident. The first trial ended March 12 with a hung jury.

Long-term doubts remain among investors about the dollar's strength in the face of the continuing outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury and possibly increased expenditure in Washington, even though the immediate spark of speculation has died. Some speculators apparently increased their fortunes during the frantic dealings.

An ounce of gold sold on the London exchange Monday for about $35.25—close to the Treasury's official price of $35 an ounce. Thursday, some buyers paid over $40 an ounce—a gain of nearly 15 per cent in three days for speculators who bought and sold at the right moments.

Who were these speculators? No one could say, since all dealings are handled anonymously through brokers. Many of the dollars that were changed into gold came from Swiss banks, where rich people of many nationalities have accounts.

But more than one highly placed market source said some of those who unloaded dollars for gold were private Americans, wanting either to take quick speculative profits or to guard themselves against a loss in the value of the dollar.

By law Americans are not allowed to buy or keep monetary gold in the United States, but there is nothing to prevent them from buying the bullion on the world's free markets if they store the gold abroad.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new element of mystery was introduced Friday into the crash of an Eastern Airlines Electra of Boston Oct. 4 when it was learned that three of the plane's four engines were developing full power.

The disclosure, by a source close to the investigation, came on the heels of a preliminary Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) report which revealed these findings:

—Number one engine had been subjected to extreme heating and its combustion section was severely deformed, all of which took place before impact with the water and pointed to definite in-flight failure.

—A dent caused by a non-metallic foreign object was found on the air scoop of the same engine.

—Tiny, almost microscopic pieces of starling feathers were found in the air scoops and oil coolers of numbers one, two and four engines, along with tissue and fiber matter which are being analyzed in laboratories. There was no foreign matter in the number three engine.

—There was no evidence of structural failure prior to impact with the water.

It has been widely theorized that the plane flew into a huge flock of starlings, the impact sucking some of the birds into engine air intakes and causing failure of at least one power plant.

However, the disclosure that engines two, three and four were developing full, normal takeoff power injected a new element of mystery. An Electra can climb on two engines, and single engine failure would pose even less of a problem.

Gold Market Closes Below Peak Prices

LONDON (AP)—The bubble of frenzied gold speculation burst in the faces of profit takers Friday as the London bullion market closed well below Thursday's peak price.

Dealers caught their breaths during light, uncertain trading and the price settled at 261 shillings $36.54 per ounce fine, compared with 290 shillings—$40.60—Thursday.

Market experts warned the speculation against the American dollar could start up again at any time. But the U.S. Treasury announcement the dollar will not be devalued seems to have pulled the rug out from under those rushing to the safety of solid gold bricks.

"Nevertheless, the good old days of relative stability on the gold exchange seem to be ended, at least for the time being," one dealer said.

Long-term doubts remain among investors about the dollar's strength in the face of the continuing outflow of gold from the U.S. Treasury and possibly increased expenditure in Washington, even though the immediate spark of speculation has died. Some speculators apparently increased their fortunes during the frantic dealings.

An ounce of gold sold on the London exchange Monday for about $35.25—close to the Treasury's official price of $35 an ounce. Thursday, some buyers paid over $40 an ounce—a gain of nearly 15 per cent in three days for speculators who bought and sold at the right moments.

Who were these speculators? No one could say, since all dealings are handled anonymously through brokers. Many of the dollars that were changed into gold came from Swiss banks, where rich people of many nationalities have accounts.

But more than one highly placed market source said some of those who unloaded dollars for gold were private Americans, wanting either to take quick speculative profits or to guard themselves against a loss in the value of the dollar.

By law Americans are not allowed to buy or keep monetary gold in the United States, but there is nothing to prevent them from buying the bullion on the world's free markets if they store the gold abroad.

AAUW Hears Talk On Turkey

The opportunity for better relationships was stressed by Curtis Gilpin in speaking to members of the Cumberland Branch American Association of University Women, at its Founders Day dinner Wednesday evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

A mathematics instructor at Fort Hill High School, Mr. Gilpin taught math in Turkey for one year on a Fulbright scholarship. He gave a detailed account of his trip from the time he left Cumberland until his return last summer. Discussing his contacts with people, the speaker explained that he lived with a Turkish family and was accepted as a member, each calling the other by their first names.

He was especially impressed how everyone stopped for prayers and ablutions five times a day. He spoke of the "great respect" in which teachers are held everywhere, by both parents and children, and explained that the teacher has as much authority over the child as the parents do at home. What the teacher said was never questioned. The Turkish children at the school where he taught all spoke English fluently.

Mr. Gilpin also told of the opportunity he had to attend a Turkish engagement and a wedding. The latter, he said, is unusual for outsiders. Speaking of his trip to the Holy Land, and when leaving Turkey to return home, he explained that the custom is to throw a bucket of water after the car or people. It is done to honor them, as water is so vital to the Turks, and to show that they wish the traveler to return as the water does.

Mrs. May Thomas presided and dispensed with the business session. Routine reports were given and it was announced that the plans of the executive board will be sent the membership in a newsletter. Mrs. Albert Rogers offered the benediction. Baskets of fall flowers decorated the tables and later were sent to Miss George Wolford, Mrs. Alice Maguire and Mrs. Frank Hinz, members who are ill. November 9 the group will meet at the Potomac Edison home service room, with Mrs. Elizabeth Tate presenting the program.

Guests were Mrs. George Henderson, Mrs. Lavern Hahn, Mrs. Mary Foreman, Mrs. Robert Crump, Mrs. Albert Macy, Miss Nonnie Brahane, Miss Margaret England and Mrs. Naomi Evanson. Thirty-one members attended. Miss Janet Anderson was chairman of arrangements. Her committee included Mrs. Max Bastian, Miss Pauline Hobbs, Miss Doloris Nevy, Miss Gerardine Pritchard and Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What To Do About Facial Hair

If superfluous hair mars your face, do-it-yourself removal can be only temporarily effective, but the results are satisfactory as long as you don't mind repeating the process whenever it's necessary.

Permanent removal of superfluous hair is quite another matter. Facial hair should be treated professionally, and only by highly-recommended operators, to minimize the risk of scarring. The treatments will take time and they will cost you accordingly. But, if your facial hair is truly troublesome, they are worth it. Diathermy or electrolysis are the only two treatment methods that I can recommend, both of which destroy the hair by injecting a needle into the papilla.

If you prefer attempting temporary hair-control yourself (which is probably just as well if your mustache is sparse and your stray hairs are few), remember how sensitive your face is compared to the skin on your arms and legs. Take the gentle approach. NEVER touch your face with depilatories, razors or abrasives.

Single coarse hairs may be clipped close to the skin with nail scissors or plucked out with tweezers in the direction the hair grows. Be sure to apply antiseptic after plucking. To be on the Members suggested giving to the Heart Association or the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp as projects for the City Council.

The group discussed the dessert bridge party to be held for the rushees. It will be held October 25 at the home of Mrs. Anna Kur LaVale.

A card party and style show, with fashions by Syckes Style Shop, is planned for November 30.

Reports on attending the tea by Governor and Mrs. Tawes in Annapolis, were given by Miss Golden and Mrs. Frances Frank. Mrs. Doloris Morgan reported the year book will be ready to enter in the international contest.

For the cultural program, Miss Mary Calamine showed pictures of her trip to Italy last summer. Others present were Miss Patricia Emerick, Mrs. Eva Slivak, Mrs. Sara Lindsay, Mrs. LaVerne Hankins, Mrs. Shirley Collins and Mrs. Helen Arthur.

Society Is Invited To Birthday

The Woman's Society of Melvin Methodist Church received an invitation to a 90th birthday party and decided to have a "Christmas Money Tree" for Baltimore East Parish instead of the usual jingle party. Mrs. Eleanor DeLaGrange conducted the business session. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Blanche Speir and Mrs. Millie Alderton. Roll was called by Mrs. Mary Valentine.

Mrs. DeLaGrange told of an invitation for the society as well as other members of the church to attend an open house at the home of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 631 Baltimore Avenue, on the occasion of her 90th birthday. It will be October 25 from 2 until 4 and from 7 until 9 p.m. The society decided to place flowers on the altar in Mrs. Smith's honor, on October 30.

Reports were given including one on the zone meeting at Fairview Church, by Mrs. Jane Fier, the missionary seminar at LaVale, by Mrs. Robert Streett; and at Central church, when Martha Meek, missionary, was the speaker. Letters of thanks from Eva Logue and E. P. Ohary, missionaries, for gifts received, were read.

Mrs. Gladys May spoke briefly on the prayer group and urged everyone to attend. She announced the "Week of Prayer and Self Denial" to be held October 27 at 7:30.

An outline of the program for the Christmas Money Tree was given by Mrs. Dorothy McDonald. It was decided to carry out the project for Baltimore East Parish at the December meeting instead of having the usual jingle party. The meeting will be held at the parsonage with Mrs. Frank Wanek as hostess.

Members were urged by Mrs. Leona Miller to subscribe to The Methodist Woman and World Outlook. Mrs. Carl Koerner announced the human relations meeting to be held in Washington, October 31-November 1. Mrs. Ronald Brannon reported on plans for the UNICEF party to be held October 28, beginning at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Speir reported $58 received from the soup sale, $13.65 from articles and cards sold, and $118.96 on the sale of apple butter. Mrs. Virginia Golden reported 18 calls made to the sick and shut-ins and 61 cards sent. Members were urged to turn in their recipes for the cook book. Mrs. Georgia Struckman was welcomed as a member.

Preceding the meeting the prayer group held a period of prayer and meditation under the direction of Mrs. Gladys May. "Living Echoes" was the topic of the devotional service, conducted by Mrs. Mary Zais, who read the Scripture and gave the meditation on "The Word of Love in Our Midst." The invocation and prayer were offered by Mrs. May. The group sang, "Lord, Speak To Me." Dramatic monologues were given by Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. May, Mrs. DeLaGrange and Mrs. Speir. Mrs. Fier read the Methodist Social Creed and Mrs. Robert Streett gave the closing prayer.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Koerner and Mrs. Leona Miller. They carried out the harvest theme in the decorations and flower arrangements.

Number Of Gospel Song Favorites Dropped From Many Church Hymnals

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Some of America's most popular hymns don't show up today in church songbooks. Officially, they've been dropped. Take, for instance, that widely known number "The Old Rugged Cross." It has been abandoned by most major denominations, except for Southern Baptists, a check shows. Or another Gospel favorite, "In the Garden." It's missing from the latest hymnals of the larger Christian bodies, Baptists included. Says the Rev. Dr. Deane Edwards, president of the Hymn Society of America: "In general the trend has been to eliminate a good many Gospel songs, to sift out the poor ones and keep those that are musically and textually better." He noted that what many people often loosely call "the good old Gospel songs" are, in fact, recent compositions of passing appeal, in which "Many of the great standard Christian hymns are several centuries old." For instance, "The Old Rugged Cross" came out in 1913, "In the Garden" in 1912. But despite their deletions, they are recurrent winners in favorite hymn surveys. The present issue of Christian Herald says a poll of 30,000 churches included by the magazine named their most-loved hymns churches. A new Lutheran hymnal showed the following five topped the list, in this order: 1. "The Old Rugged Cross." 2. "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." 3. "In the Garden." 4. "How Great Thou Art." 5. "Sweet Hour of Prayer." In the latest church hymnals, however, only "What a Friend we have in Jesus" is included by most principal churches. A new Lutheran hymnal omits it. "Sweet Hour" gets varied treatment, in a few hymnals, out of others. As for the three top favorites, they're mostly absent. Some other high-ranking choices, such as "Amazing Grace" and "Blessed Assurance" are retained by Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians, but not by the Episcopal, Congregational or United Lutheran hymnbooks. Others in the top 10, "Abide With Me," "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" rate a place in nearly all denominational hymnals. "A point that is often not realized is that there is a tremendous turnover in hymns," Dr. Edwards said. He leaped through a faded, old "Sabbath Tunebook" of 1852, and found that out of the first 140 hymns in the book, only 25 still are in use. "The same process goes on with these Gospel songs," he said. "There is constant change in use. The church is a living thing, and its hymnody follows its life. Changes come and new situations arise."

And just who is Bill? A parent's mind stalls right in the middle of that intersection . . .

From what background has Bill come? In what moral direction is he heading? Where did Ruth meet him? Where will he take her?

Jolting the family's peace of mind, this sudden collision between confidence in our daughter and uncertainty about someone's son.

Another jolt: If Bill's parents are the right sort of people, they're probably wondering about our Ruth!

Many families have fewer such anxieties because they are active in the life of a church. Their boys and girls meet in an atmosphere that calls forth our best. Fun, friendship and inspiration are blended in worthwhile youth activities.

And if love blooms . . . no awkward compromise of conviction such as besets some . . . but a common faith in God to enrich a couple's affection and strengthen their marriage.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

HOLLYWOOD—Over the trans-Atlantic telephone, Yves Montand in Paris has been talking to Jerry Wald about making D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley" with Mary Ure, providing Wald will produce it in London.

There are a couple of good reasons why Yves does not want to come back to Hollywood or the USA for a movie any time soon. American newsstands are still flooded with magazine stories about the fascinating Frenchman and Marilyn Monroe and he'd like the gossip to cool.

Another good reason is that Montand is upset over the trouble Simone Signoret has stirred up with her political views on Algeria. He wants to stay close to his wife and help her through the worst of the governmental ban on her pictures.

Brunette Mara Lane, British actress whose short stay in Hollywood has not gone unnoticed,—she looks like a slim Liz Taylor—now won't look so much like Liz after she dyes her hair blonde for "On the Double." Mel Shavels and Jack Rose signed Mara for the Danny Kaye comedy at Paramount right after she landed in from a trip to Honolulu and she'll play the second femme lead to Dana Wynter.

As Dana's hair is very dark, Mara has been asked to "dye" her hair very light. Although she'll play the role of a lady sergeant who drives the car of an impostor general (Danny), Mara gets the chance to be very sexy and glamorous.

From Miss Louella Parsons, who has fallen in love with Miami (local chambers of commerce please ignore): "I had heard much about the Fontainebleu Hotel in Miami Beach, but I had no idea it was so lavish. I am in the presidential suite feeling like one of Napoleon's ladies of the court must have felt at Fontainebleu Palace in France. I've never had so much flattering attention."

"Jimmy McHugh and Connie Haines put on a great show for the American Legion convention. Morton Downey sang—and most impressive was George Sokolsky's speech on Americanism. Richard Berlin accepted the famous Mercury Award for William Randolph Hearst, Jr. Martin McKneally stepped down from his post as Legion commander, and William Burke, of Long Beach, California, takes over."

"Visited the Miami Herald which runs my column, and for many years. Met John Pennekamp, associate editor, and George Bourke, news editor—two fine people. Off to New York and Boston tomorrow to see my daughter Harriet's new play "Rape of the Bell."

Even Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward are surprised at the hysteria they have brought on among Paris teen-agers who seem to have temporarily deserted Brigitte Bardot for the Newmans.

The teenage beatniks (or their French equivalents) located the small apartment where Joanne and Paul are living while making "Paris Blues" and wait outside the building not only throughout the day but far into the night begging to run errands or whatever.

When Paul and Joanne returned home the other night at 2:00 a.m. following their press reception at the Plaza Athenee, they found two 14-year-old girls asleep on their front steps. The Newmans sent the girls home in a taxicab and considering that they lived on the other side of Paris, it was an expensive bit of fan adulation.

Dennis O'Keefe, who veered from movies to TV, veers back to the screen again to co-star with Pat Boone and Buddy Hackett in "All Hands on Deck," 20th Navy musical. O'Keefe plays Pat's commanding officer who is so wacky he gives commands while sleepwalking.

Director Norman Taurog and producer Oscar Brodney are at Long Beach these days at the naval base getting location sites set for the start of the comedy on November 15.

ABL PRODUCT — This is the second Polaris motor designed and developed at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, which will be produced at Hercules Powder Company's Bacchus, Utah, plant.

Hercules Gets Contract For Polaris Work

The Hercules Powder Company of Wilmington, Del., has been selected to produce the second stage motors for an advanced model of the Navy's Polaris fleet ballistic missile.

The new motor was designed and developed by the Hercules firm at its government-owned Allegany Ballistics Laboratory here, which is operated by the Navy.

The firm will produce the solid propellant motor at its Bacchus Works in Utah. Officials report negotiations on the contract are to be completed this month, adding that it is expected to involve around $17,000,000.

Hercules scientists say the new motor is designed to contribute toward placing Polaris in the 1,500-mile class.

Notice of the awarding of the contract was contained in a letter from Lockheed Missiles and Space Division of Sunnyvale, Calif., Polaris missile system manager, according to Albert E. Forster, president of Hercules.

D. H. Little, manager of the ABL facility, was notified of the contract by a telegram from Forster, which stated:

"Once again may I congratulate all chemical propulsion people for their outstanding achievement in the Polaris program."

"As you all know the selection of Hercules to produce the new and improved Polaris second stage was based fully on the performance of our unit."

"I have no doubt that the production team at Bacchus will carry on with the same zeal and standards of the development team at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory."

Labor Council To Present Plan

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council will present its six-point program to aid this section's economy to the Mayor and City Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners Monday.

The delegation from the council will meet at 11 a.m. with the city commissioners.

The labor body, formed of the unions of this county, has set up six aims as a solution to the economic problems of the area. The unions are seeking legislative support of their program.

Policeman Cited For Alertness

An alert police officer has been credited with preventing the possible loss of life and heavy property damage in spotting a fire early yesterday at property on the corner of Central and Maryland avenues.

The patrolman, Officer Richard L. Maier, was cited for his quick thinking by Assistant Fire Chief Alvey Poole, who said a delay of five or ten minutes would have found the fire out of control.

According to reports, Officer Maier was walking on Maryland Avenue when he noticed the windows of a store at 301 Maryland Avenue were steamed up. Thinking it rather odd, the patrolman decided on a more thorough inspection of the property.

When he inspected the rear of the building, Officer Maier noticed smoke seeping out from windows and the back door. He immediately pulled Alarm Box 511 at the intersection of the streets, with South End Company responding at 3:40 a.m., and the aerial truck three minutes later.

After placing the alarm, Officer Maier returned to the building and awakened residents in an apartment over the business establishment. The store, police report, is operated by Ernest Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Skidmore.

The blaze was confined to the basement of the building, with firemen stating the rafters being badly charred. Chief Poole said the entire structure appeared ready to burst into flames by the time the firefighting units appeared on the scene. Any delay, he added, would have found the fire out of control.

Origin of the blaze is undetermined, although fire officials said it probably resulted from an overheated furnace. An investigation is being conducted.

Some smoke damage resulted from the fire, but no accurate estimate of damage was available today.

Central was on the scene for some 90 minutes before returning to quarters, while South End was out an hour and 40 minutes.

Sgt. E. Gordon Hite, of the 1 to 9 a.m. police shift, also lauded Officer Maier for his thorough inspection of the Maryland Avenue premises, pointing out that his zeal is an inspiration to newer members of the force.

Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney said he would recommend a letter of citation be awarded Officer Maier.

The Police Department will present a letter of commendation today to Officer Maier for his vigilance and prompt action. The citation will be presented by Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming and in the presence of Police Chief B. F. Gaffney at a ceremony today at 9 a.m. in Police Headquarters.

Mr. Fleming said it was a "great source of satisfaction . . . to realize we have such a wide-awake, alert Police Officer . . . one who so diligently protects the lives and property of the citizens of Cumberland."

Board Not To Make Plea For Payton

A letter asking clemency for Boyd A. Payton, former official of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, will not be sent to Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina from the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The board yesterday stood two to one against writing the letter in behalf of Payton, who was convicted of conspiracy to bomb the Harriett-Henderson, N.C., cotton mill during a long strike last year.

"The whole thing is ridiculous," Commissioner John T. Mason declared yesterday.

He emphasized that he had talked to union people and others and added he didn't think Gov. Hodges would pay any attention to the board's letter.

Tuesday, John G. Thomas, president of Local 1874, appeared before the board to make the request for the letter.

At that time, John J. Rowan, board president, said he felt the letter should be written as he had known Payton when both worked at Amcelle Plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Rowan said Payton had made an outstanding contribution in his efforts in the formation of Local 1874.

The writing of the letter was held up pending a ruling by County Attorney Leslie J. Clark, basing the board's decision was not announced yesterday but Mason put badly charred. Chief Poole said his comments in the record.

Mrs. Mildred Edmunds, acting clerk, informed the board that the Commissioner William A. Wilson, who was not present due to illness, had called and wanted to be quoted in the records as being against the letter.

Payton, Carolinas director for the TWUA, faces a sentence of from six to ten years. The U. S. Supreme Court two weeks ago refused to review his case along with seven other men convicted on the same charge.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 16-year-old daughter and her girl friend who is the same age locked themselves in the bathroom and with the help of a bottle of peroxide and a few packages of white henna they have ruined their looks.

Elsie (our daughter) used to be a brunette. Now she's almost platinum. Her girl friend had sandy colored hair and she's also a mess. When my husband saw them he was terribly upset. The girl friend's mother phoned me and I never heard such language on a telephone. She asked me why I let them do it. I told her they did it on their own and that I couldn't watch 16-year-olds as if they were infants.

What can we do? My husband says we should make Elsie cut all her hair off. I think this is too harsh. It'll take months to grow back and she'll look hideous in the meantime. Please advise. We are waiting—S.O.S.

DEAR S.O.S.: The girls can have their hair dyed back to the natural color in one afternoon, although I admit it gives those kooks a better break than they deserve. The price of the job should be taken out of their allowances—every last cent of it and it'll add up to plenty of cents!

He admits I'm right, says he doesn't know what demon overtakes him, but it's something he can't control.

What am I going to do? I love my mother and I'm not going to stand for him abusing her. Please help me.

Senator John F. Kennedy, Democrat nominee for President, was a 6-1 choice over his opponent, Richard M. Nixon, Vice President of the nation, when students of Catholic Girls Central High School voted during a recent mock election program "Decision 1960."

Election results showed 86 votes for Kennedy, 14 for Nixon.

The junior social studies class of the local parochial school conducted the program "to infuse a deeper understanding of American democracy and to promote intelligent consideration of and enthusiasm and participation in the forthcoming election."

Sue Powers, chairman of the assembly, explained the function of the Electoral College. Her classmate, Karen McKenzie, spoke for Mr. Nixon. Pam Spooler spoke for Sen. Kennedy.

An "acceptance speech" was given by Mary Catherine Florentine.

Registration and voting were in charge of Jeanne Taylor, Betty Jane Martin, Rosemary McGuire and Helen Stakem.

Americans Live Up To Responsibilities

Respite from the criticism that Americans have grown soft may be coming, if Robert W. Sarnoff's speech to the American Gas Association in Atlantic City is a barometer. Mr. Sarnoff, who is chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., says the record shows that Americans have lived up to their responsibilities in the world, even if they've had easy living while doing it.

Mr. Sarnoff pointed out that Americans have given billions of dollars in foreign aid, fought in Korea, paid the highest taxes in peacetime history and undertaken peacetime conscription to keep a standing army in Europe and maintain bases all over the globe. "In short," he says, "we have done everything that our national leadership has asked us to do."

For these reasons and many others, most Americans will join Mr. Sarnoff in his rejection of the "hairshirt economists" who consider comfort a sin. However, Mr. Sarnoff oversimplifies his defense of the way Americans do things.

We have indeed done a formidable job in shoring up a wobbly world, but it should not be presumed that we can go on with this indefinitely while "consuming our way to prosperity."

Somewhere along the line there must be recognition of economic laws, one of which says you cannot spend more than you make. This truth is being brought home to us in our dwindling gold reserves. The U. S. government is beginning to hint that nations restored to prosperity by America should shoulder some of the burden of aid to underdeveloped countries.

Now is the time for prospering recipients of aid from the flabby Americans to show that they themselves are not a little bit soft.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The State Department

The State Department obviously needs reorganization. Its system of indirect policy-making at low levels has resulted in too many significant errors, particularly as regards China, Indonesia, Cuba, and the Congo.

The lower levels consist of deskmen who are presumed to be experts and they probably are expert. In a word, they are technicians. The essential difference between a technician and a guiding personality is that the latter adds to technical knowledge, experience, wisdom, imagination, flair.

Those who represent the State Department to the public and to Congress, that is, the Secretary of State and the Under Secretaries, are often not as technically informed as the assistant secretaries and the deskmen, but they are responsible for policy. When policy is made at the lower levels, the decisions are bound to be troublesome because they are often not correlated with other policies of government and sometimes represent the private and biased views of immature deskmen.

Many competent men have, at various times, suggested a reorganization of the State Department. The most serious effort to be made in recent years was when Herbert Hoover, Jr., was Under Secretary, but he found himself in difficulties because of civil service arrangements which amount to tenure. This makes it very difficult to get rid of useless, incompetent or even disturbing personnel.

Former Governor Averell Harriman has now come up with an interesting suggestion. He would give status to the men in charge of the regional divisions. Let me put it in his words:

"I . . . propose that the status of the men in charge of the five regional divisions of the State Department be elevated to attract men of outstanding position and experience. The title might be 'Secretary for Africa,' for example. These Secretaries for the five regions plus the Ambassador to the United Nations and the Under Secretaries should become the Senior Cabinet of the Secretary of State.

"The success of this proposal would depend upon the stature of the first group of men who were selected for these Secretaryships. They should be men with the capacity and qualifications for the Secretaryship of State itself. After all, our problems in each of the five areas today are greater than the entire problems which a Secretary of State faced just a generation ago."

This is a workable suggestion if a President can find the right men to serve. My special experience is with the Far East. The last man to look after Far Eastern affairs in the State Department who was more than a technician was Dr. Stanley Hornbeck who left the Department in 1944. Since then, with the exception of Walter Robertson, only technicians have served.

Much of the confusion over Far Eastern policy has developed because no one in the State Department for decades recognized the East of Asia as a whole. The weakness in Harriman's proposal is his division by continents. Asia, for instance, politically is not one but several areas, and to put a man of stature over the technicians in each area would be very sound. It would not only strengthen the Department; it would help the President in formulating and presenting policy.

Harriman says: "The Secretary for Africa should visit each country during the course of the year and represent the President to the governments as a Special Ambassador. He would see to it that the problems arising in each country got top level attention . . ."

Woodrow Wilson used Colonel House for this very purpose. Franklin D. Roosevelt made Norman Davis a roving ambassador. But a roving ambassador does not have the status that a "Secretary for Europe" would have. Henry Cabot Lodge, as our Ambassador to the United Nations, elevated that post to exactly the position that Governor Harriman has in mind. He went even further: he sat in the President's Cabinet and played a role in formulating policy.

This may not be the last word in plans for reorganization of the State Department. There are undoubtedly many proposals because the time has come when something must be done about it. The Harriman proposal is, however, worthy of consideration. One of its advantages could be that the Administration could employ a number of competent, distinguished, experienced men who are required to retire at a young age, such as 62, who ought still to be serving their country.

Kennedy Leads In Dramatics And Theatrics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When it comes to dramatics and achieving theatrical effects, the Kennedy management is putting it all over the Nixon management. One stunt "out-checkers" the famous Nixon appearance in the 1952 campaign, and another piece of staging outdoes any "Madison Avenue Technique" of which the Republicans have frequently been accused. These two television affairs have together just cost the Kennedy management at least $250,000. Both were televised over networks of between 150 and 180 stations.

The first of these two shows occurred on Sunday night, when the smart boys in the Kennedy camp managed to persuade the Columbia Broadcasting System to shorten its regular television program "What's My Line?" and make the last five minutes available for a Kennedy broadcast, paid for by the "Citizens For Kennedy" organization, thus insuring the continued interest of an audience that had already been gathered for a popular quiz feature.

In the second instance, the same technique was used, and the Garry Moore Show on Tuesday night, which also enjoys a high rating, was clipped by five minutes to permit the Kennedy management to put on its show.

Both shows were then presented the following mornings, as paid political telecasts, in the midst of the Dave Garroway program on the National Broadcasting Company network, where another big audience was assured.

Senator Kennedy played the role of the leading man in the two skits, and undoubtedly the script was prepared in advance at least for those selected to appear in the act with him.

In the Sunday night show, there were three mothers who had lost their sons in World War II, and Senator Kennedy mentioned in passing that he had lost a brother in the same war. The discussion centered on the horrors of war, and the plain implication was that Senator Kennedy would spare the nation a repetition of such a tragedy.

The Democratic nominee sat at a small table, having tea with the three elderly ladies in an informal, homey atmosphere. The women participants didn't have much to say except to reveal at the outset that they had lost their sons in the war. It was a dramatic setting, and the Kennedy management certainly took advantage of the emotional undertones in order to help the Democratic nominee get votes.

In the Tuesday night show, the technique was very much the same, but the participants were different. An older man and his wife sat at a table in what appeared to be their home and discussed with Senator Kennedy the cost to the husband of something around $600 for medical treatment for a broken hip. Senator Kennedy pointed out that this was a pretty heavy bill to pay and that, under his administration, Social Security would take care of such things through a tax which would cost only 3 cents a day, or about $11 a year, in Social Security payments.

The Congress had this question up at the last session, and many Democrats as well as Republicans voted against it on the theory that medical care can be provided best by direct federal appropriation each year to the states, and that the cost of such care for those

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — The government's incentive awards program, begun six years ago, has, already, saved the astronomical sum of $385 million. Additional hundreds of millions of dollars, and probably billions, will ultimately be saved by the program.

Six years ago, the federal government asked workers to make suggestions to improve operations. It gave varying sums for suggestions adopted. To date, these cash awards total more than $14 million. There have been 497,888 suggestions received, although, naturally, all have not been put into effect.

In addition, the government has been singling out employees who have been doing superior work over and above the standards of their positions. These, too, have been receiving sizeable cash awards. So far, 280,816 of them have received cash awards of over $40 million. It is estimated that their extra efforts have saved the taxpayers $317 millions so far in the life of the program.

The program stands as a monument to what can be accomplished in increasing efficiency in government work. Not all the ideas have been thought of by any means. There is still a wide open field for improvement.

Experts claim that while the monetary savings are important, the program has had another and perhaps more significant effect in boosting the morale of federal workers who often in the past have been discouraged by the feeling that they are very little cogs in a very big machine.

POLITICAL MAIL — Political campaigners are among the first to utilize modern day miracles in their election efforts. They take to radio and television like a fish takes to water. They have abandoned trains in favor of jet planes and criss-cross the country as casually as most people travel to and from work.

However, some things remain unchanged, even in campaign techniques. The four-cent stamp is still one of the workhorses of political headquarters. If any proof is needed, just drop into the mail rooms of either party headquarters in Washington.

As many as 30,000 pieces of mail are received daily, and hundreds of smart young men and women sort and analyze the paper inundation. The outgoing department, however, makes this look like a quiet day in a rural post office. This department may handle as many as 200,000 mailings daily! All of these envelopes must be addressed, stamped, and of course, filled with something—usually literature.

The Republican National Committee has a monthly postage bill of about $40,000. The Democrats won't talk about theirs, but it's probably in the same vicinity.

A Weekend At A Poison Control Center

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The New York State Journal of Medicine carries a monthly report from the poison control center of the New York City department of health. Over one weekend, for example, this center was consulted about 50 different poisonings.

The products swallowed consisted of every conceivable chemical in the house, garage, and garden. There were requests on rat poisons, blue ink, Lionel train smoke capsules, benzene, baby aspirin, sleeping pills, Spic and Span, thermometers, household paint, Chanel No. 5, bleaches, camphorated oil, iodine, denatured alcohol, furniture polish, Lysol, Sage air refresher, wooden matches, and Plantabbs.

The inquiries included questions on what happens when a person puts an indelible pencil in the mouth, sucked fingers smeared with a deodorant cream, or got Glass Wax in the eyes. In most instances the victims were children and the mothers did the calling.

One woman asked about a dog that ate a vial of nitroglycerine pills. The pup probably thought he was having a heart attack and wanted immediate relief. A question on polystyrene plastic cement (airplane glue) came from a psychiatric ward where a 15 year old boy was confined because of transient bouts of extreme excitement, destructive behavior, and screaming. The attacks were followed by profound sleep; on awakening, he could not recall the events that took place.

The psychiatrists found the young man was in the habit of ed 'The Love Life of a Frog,' never will print 'The Love Life of a Frog,' and we never even want to hear about 'The Love Life of a Frog again!'

The next day there were over four hundred requests in the Department's mail.

Defense Of Quemoy-Matsu Once Split The Republican Party

By Drew Pearson

was agreed, might well lead to general war.

This discussion inside the White House and the Senate found the Republican party split right down the middle.

GOP Isolationists Favor Intervention

Paradoxically, the group within the Republican party which demanded a showdown with China was the same isolationist group which wanted to avoid entangling alliances in the past; had bucked the League of Nations, tried to keep out of the World Court, and favored appeasement of Hitler. In the case of China, however, they got so steamed up that they forgot their previous isolation.

Chief backstage explanation for isolation regarding Europe and Intervention regarding China was the China Lobby, operated by the Chiang family which threw tremendous amounts of money into Republican campaigns. Chief political operator for the lobby and dispenser of the contributions has been Maj. Louey Kung, son of Dr. H. H. Kung and nephew of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Chinese have been close to Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and contributed to his campaign; also have been strong boosters of Senators Jenner, Ind.; McCarthy, Wis.; Welker, Idaho; Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, and various others, including Vice President Nixon. And some of these Senators have gone to extreme lengths to support the Chiang Kai-shek dynasty.

In the final showdown over Quemoy and Matsu in April 1955, however, President Eisenhower sided against the right wing of his own party.

Liberals Warn Ike

The showdown took place at a significant, off-the-record dinner meeting at the White House attended by the liberal wing of the GOP. The guests included ex-Gov. Tom Dewey of New York, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Ike's old army friend, Gen. Lucius Clay, head of Continental Can; Paul Hoffman, former administrator of the Marshall Plan, and Sherman Adams. Vice President Nixon was also present, though in the past he had sided with the China Lobby and right wing Republicans.

Led by Dewey, the group reminded Ike that he had campaigned on the promise to end war in Korea, that it would be political suicide to present the voters with another Far Eastern war on the eve of the 1956 election. They argued that the right wing GOP Senators and the China Lobby, despite their propaganda, were in a minority, that the public would be dead against fighting a war over two remote islands off the China coast.

The President had been reluctant to get committed for Quemoy and Matsu anyway and this clinched the matter. It was decided that the United States would undertake no commitment to defend the offshore islands; but in order to appease Admiral Radford, the most militant member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, it was further decided to let Chiang Kai-shek's troops remain there, and to make no clear-cut official announcement.

That was why, though Dulles announced that the United States has "no commitments and no purpose to defend the islands," the 7th Fleet continued to help Chiang supply the islands. Later Eisenhower made his position clearer by stating, Oct. 1, 1958, that Quemoy and Matsu "as of themselves" are "not greatly vital to the defense of Formosa," and that as a soldier he thought Chiang was unwise in putting so many troops there.

Vice President Nixon, who participated in the Dewey dinner at the White House, went along with the sentiment expressed by the liberal GOP leaders, though his association in the past had been with Senator Bridges and other China Lobby backers and beneficiaries.

In the initial debate with Senator Kennedy he reverted back to the China Lobby's demand for all-out defense of Quemoy and Matsu, and although modifying it since, his constant harping on the subject appears to keep him pretty much in the camp of those who first contributed to his campaign to the Senate and have helped him financially in two races since. Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Your editorial in the October 19th, 1960 issue has been brought to my attention and read with interest. Since I know you want to know the facts about my Republican opponent's record of failure in the House of Delegates in 1959 and 1960, and, furthermore, you are entitled to such facts, I am taking the liberty of writing to you.

Since May 24th, 1960, I have been calling the attention of Sixth District citizens to my opponent's record as set forth in the "Maryland House Journal," 1959. Thus for about five months—not "for several weeks," his record of failure has been factually presented by me.

In your editorial you say as a matter of fact, "Mr. Foley's figures were all wrong." Also, you say "that Rep. Foley has contended x x x that he missed 36 of 142 quorum calls in the 1959 session of the General Assembly. Aside from the fact that there were only 68 quorum calls during that session, it has been established that the vote recording machine obviously did not work properly x x x x."

With reference to my statement about my opponent's absentee record in 1959, your attention is invited to a news item appearing on Page six, column 3, of "The Cumberland News," Saturday, October 1, 1960. In the AP release, you printed the exact statement I have been making that my opponent, "missed 36 of the 142 quorum and roll call votes."

The official public record, "Maryland House Journal," 1959, reveals there were 68 quorum calls in 1959 and that my Republican opponent missed 14 without excuse and 2 with official excuse. There were 75 roll calls in 1959. My opponent missed 19 without excuse and 1 with excuse. His total failure to respond was 36 quorum and roll calls.

Concerning the malfunction of the vote recording machine, my opponent on September 26, 1960, inquired from General Assembly staff members about only one 1960 recorded vote of his.

My statement has been consistent throughout the campaign that my opponent in 1959 failed to vote 530 times without excuse and 18 times with official excuse. This information is contained in the official printed "Maryland House Journal," 1959. As a public record, it is available at many public libraries and is in possession of each Delegate to the General Assembly. The facts revealed by the official record speak for themselves. By contrast to my opponent's 1959 record of failures to vote on the 1,430 total votes, the Republican minority leader of the House voted in all instances except 32.

You state in your editorial of October 19th, "now that this is sue apparently has been 'disposed of x x x x.' It has not been disposed of. My Republican opponent filed for Congress in January, 1960. During the February, 1960, thirty-day session of the General Assembly and while a candidate for Congress, he failed to vote 107 times without excuse and 6 times with excuse. The total number of votes is 346. Again, these facts are contained in the printed "Journal of Proceedings of The House of Delegates of Maryland," February Session, 1960. By contrast the Republican minority leader voted in all instances except 3.

My opponent's deplorable record of voting failures is a matter of public record, fully and officially documented. As a convenience to you, I am enclosing an itemization by page number in the official records of each of his 1959 and 1960 failures to vote.

In passing, it should be pointed out that in 1960, there were 34 roll calls of which my opponent missed 10 without excuse and 1 with excuse. There were 28 quorum calls, of which he missed 7 without excuse and 2 with excuse. Thus, he failed to respond in 20 of 64 roll and quorum calls, or for 32 per cent of the calls.

I have repeatedly offered to my opponent to sit down with him and review his official 1959 and 1960 voting record. Moreover, he has refused to inform the citizens of the Sixth District what his 1959 and 1960 record at Annapolis is. This not only is an insult to the Republicans who nominated him without knowing the deplorable facts of his record, but in this general election campaign is an arrogant withholding by him of vital public information for the education of the voters, which he knows will be a damaging admission against his political interest. He has done this because he knows the official facts I have revealed are true.

I wish to assure you, in concluding this lengthy letter with enclosures, that I will make myself and my documents available to you at your convenience so that you can satisfy yourself that the facts I have presented about my opponent's record are true.

I am seeking re-election on my record of service to the people of the District, which shows a 96.85 per cent voting and attendance record; 12 of my bills were enacted into law; for the first time three Congressional District Offices were established at Cumberland, Hagerstown and Rockville, with a person in attendance during business hours.

I will continue to fight for the C&O Canal National Historical Park; the development of the North Branch of the Potomac by the Corps of Engineers; the cleaning up of the polluted Potomac; the enactment of a depressed area bill; federal aid to public schools and teachers' salaries without federal control of the schools; extension of Interstate Route 70 through Allegany and Garrett counties; maximum service to the people of the District regardless of party, race, color or creed.

Very truly yours,
JOHN R. FOLEY,
Member of Congress

Allegany's powerful Campers, hopeful of retaining the city championship they won last year, took a significant step in the direction of the title last night with an easy 39-0 victory over LaSalle before an estimated 4,000 fans at Fort Hill Stadium.

Coach Ed Schwarz's unbeaten crew cut loose with a torrid first period attack that produced three touchdowns in slightly more than ten minutes, then coasted to their sixth victory and fourth shutout of the campaign.

The Campers, whose offense was concentrated on the ground, completed only one of nine passes, but they plucked off five errant LaSalle aerials and converted four of them into touchdowns.

Mistakes Hurt Irish

Of the three first period TDs scored by the Campers, two were set up by mistakes the Explorers committed in their own territory.

Once Allegany's band of opportunists gained possession of the ball, they had little trouble moving it across the goal line.

The Explorers found themselves in deep trouble at the game's outset. Eddie Melvin fumbled Bob Gaffney's kickoff on his own eight yard line, and was dropped back on the four by Wayne Shook.

Three thrusts at the line netted the Explorers only four yards and Don Harden punted from the eight. His wobbly kick was downed on the 25, from where the Campers struck paydirt in five plays, Ronnie Evans crashing off left tackle from ten yards out for the score.

LaSalle took over following the kickoff, but had the ball for only two plays as Bucky Harris intercepted a Melvin aerial at the Explorer 45. On a fourth-and-three situation at the 38, the Campers called on Gaffney, their bread-and-butter man, to pick up the needed yardage.

Big Bob more than accommodated his mates, going all the way for the touchdown on a play off the left side that appeared to catch the LaSalle defenses completely unaware.

Again the Explorers could keep the ball for but two plays, as Frank Brode fumbled on the 32 and Terry Bolinger recovered. A Mulligan-to-Ronnie Evans pass, the Campers' only completion of the evening, advanced the ball to the 15. Gaffney hit the left side for seven yards and Miller went off right tackle for eight and the third Alco TD, with 1:41 left in the quarter.

In the second period Melvin continued to keep the Allegany defenders in range. Wayne Shook and Harris intercepted passes that were eventually turned into touchdowns by the Campers.

Evans and Gaffney tallied the latter on a 15-yard run and Evans on a three-yard plunge. Gaffney's pair of touchdowns and a extra point upped his scoring total to 73 points in six games.

Clock Halts Threat

LaSalle's deepest penetration into Camper territory came on the last play of the first half, when the clock prevented a possible Explorer score. Jerry Lowery hit Bill Lovett with a pass that covered 36 yards and carried the Irish down to the Allegany 12.

The Campers opened the second half with freshman quarterback Fred Shank directing the team. They moved well behind Shank, driving from their own 38 down to the LaSalle 11, before losing the ball on downs.

The final touchdown drive followed an intercepted pass and was aided by a pair of personal foul infractions against the Explorers. Tom Winter grabbed a Lowery toss at the LaSalle 40. Two running plays and two penalties moved the ball to the nine. Jim McKenzie banded his way to the one, then went over on the following play.

Long touchdown runs by Don Bush, Larry Taylor and Jim Evans accounted for three of the four touchdowns as Beall High School rolled to its third straight P.V.C. victory last night at the expense of Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets last night at Frostburg. The score was 27-0.

Bush thrilled the crowd of 900 persons when he took the opening kickoff and raced 84 yards for the initial score. Jim Robertson kicked the extra point.

Later in the opening period Bush was clipped from behind and sat out the remainder of the game with a torn ligament in his right ankle.

In the second period Beall drove from its own 40 for the second score. Following a 10-yard gallop by Jim Evans, Larry Taylor raced the remaining 30 yards for the touchdown and Robertson's placement was good.

Beall increased its lead to 20-0 before intermission on a 46-yard touchdown sprint by Jim Evans but Robertson's placement was blocked.

Ralph Arnold, 238-pound full-back, accounted for Beall's final six-point in the third period. Starting from their own 30, the Mountaineers marched to paydirt in 12 plays with Arnold going over from the one. Robertson's kick for the point was partially blocked, hit the top of the crossbar and bounced over.

Beall made its overall record 4-1. Moorefield is 1-5 in the P.V.C.

The Mountaineers were penalized 18 times for a total of 130 yards.

Five bands, namely, Mt. Savage, Beall High, Beall Junior High, Arion of Frostburg and Bruce High, played before the game and during intermission.

Bruce High School's Bulldogs led their goal line crossed for the first time this season in the opening period but Coach Leonard Ritchie's booters equalized with a penalty shot in the third period to battle Beal High School to a 1-1 tie yesterday in an important W.M.I. Soccer League contest staged before a turnout of 600 spectators at Westminster.

The teams remained deadlocked for first place as the halfway point in the championship race was reached. Both schools had 3-0 records before their initial meeting of the campaign.

Jim Duncan, center forward, who is seeking the league's individual scoring title for the second straight season, put Coach "Eddie" Finzel's Mountaineers in front 48 seconds after the game got under way when he slammed one from 12 yards into the net. It was his twelfth point of the season.

Delilo Ties Score

After a scoreless second period, Bruce knotted the count in the third stanza when Eddie Delilo's penalty shot whizzed beneath the crossbar one minute after the quarter got under way.

It was a well played game with Beal holding an edge in the first half while Bruce outplayed the visitors in the second and third periods. Bruce had four corner kicks and Beal had three.

Bruce High's standout players were Goalie Mike Jenkins, halfbacks Joe Price and Eddie Delilo and inside right Mike Warnick. Fullback Allan Eisel, Halfback Milburn Spiker and Jim Duncan and Gilbert Carter on the forward line were Beal's best bets.

Flintstone Wins, 1-0

A penalty goal by Don Kinton, center halfback, in the first period was the only score of the game as Flintstone High's Aggies notched their first win of the season, 1-0, at the expense of the Mt. Savage Indians at Mt. Savage.

Both teams had other opportunities to score from the penalty line later in the game but failed. Robert Robertson of Mt. Savage missed a penalty shot in the third period and Kinton did likewise in the final quarter.

Coach Orrville "Stony" Jackson's Aggies broke a three-game losing streak while John Thomas Indians suffered their third loss against one tie game.

Goalie Stafford, fullbacks Humbertson and Stonestreet and Kinton were outstanding for Flintstone while Fred Murphy, Robertson, John Lowery and Eddie Garlitz stood out for the home team.

CERVANTES LIVES AGAIN

The townspeople create the music of old Spain as a dancer whirls through her steps in the Plaza of San Roque.

Cervantes, the famed 16th century Spanish author, as portrayed by Onacio Lopez Suarez, professor of Spanish literature at Guanajuato University.

Rosa Macias, a Guanajuato beauty parlor employee, makes up for part in play.

In the storied Mexican mountain town of Guanajuato, Don Quixote, Sancho Panza and other immortal characters from the pages of Don Miguel de Cervantes, the famed 16th century author, soldier, poet and adventurer, have become familiar personages in the life of today. A unique theater has brought about the new interest in the Golden Age of Spanish literature.

Each year, in the town plaza of San Roque, in a natural setting of old balconies, Toledo gratings and narrow alleyways, the "Entremeses Cervantinos," or interludes from Cervantes, are staged. The actors are the townspeople themselves — merchants, artisans, students, housewives and children — some 40 of them who speak their lines in Cervantes' glorious Castilian.

The audience made up of tourists and townfolk alike watch the performance from portable stands set up on one side of the plaza. Actors enter and exit from the narrow alleyways to either side of the plaza. Action begins following the appearance of Cervantes who places himself off-stage. A narrator using a public address system sets the scene and describes the action.

At the conclusion of the scene the actors freeze in position. A clattering of hooves announces the coming of Don Quixote, who in full armor and mounted on horseback followed by his servant Sancho Panza on burro, rides across the plaza signaling the end of each interlude.

Beautiful Josefina de Echanove, who portrays "La Dama de la Silla" (the woman of the chair), is assisted from sedan chair by her gallant suitor.

"Gay lassies adorn the scenery coming down the hill," is this scene described in a Cervantes Interlude.

Victorious swordsman, played by Raul Trujillo, a drug-store clerk, stands over his fallen foes, near end of play.

Don Quixote, on horseback, portrayed by Luis Mario, walks among the "dead" and "wounded" in climax of play. He's followed by his servant, Sancho Panza.

Market Soundly Trowned For Fifth Straight Loss

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was soundly trowned Friday making it a clean sweep of five losers in a row.

The week's last session crowned the achievement with a late, falling tape and the heaviest volume in nearly a month. While the stocks comprising the popular averages were severely mauled, the lumps on the hangers — on were even larger.

Unfortunately, the punctured gold bubble of Thursday was just a sweet memory forcing traders to reckon with the cold facts of an officially confirmed economic downturn, predictions of even worse to come, new reports of banked steel furnaces and declining enthusiasm among consumers.

Many of the Wall Street doers now hold the opinion that the current period is as good a time as any for the expected "test" of last month's market lows although the majority feel the test would be met successfully.

Volume turned up to 3,090,000 shares from 2,910,000 Thursday and was the most since Sept. 30 when 3,375,000 shares changed hands.

A few issues managed to buck the trend in response to individual corporate developments. Wilcox Oil, which reported a new take-over bid, rose 2 1/2 in a mostly lower oil section. Amalgamated Sugar, which would, in effect, split its stock 2-for-1, gained 3/4. Western Pacific Railroad, linked in merger with Southern Pacific, added 1/4.

American Telephone, despite announcing it would launch a communications satellite within a year, lost 1 1/4 points. Youngstown and U.S. Steel dropped 2 each on reports of lower steel output and turned down furnaces. IBM, which said it looked optimistically toward the future, nevertheless dropped 3/4.

The small plane manufacturers were particularly hard hit, Beech off 3/4 and Piper down 3/4. Drugs were off 3 or more in Warner Lambert and Upjohn. International Salt sagged another 4 points. Most gold stocks lost around a point with Homestake off 2.

The 15 most active list showed four gold issues among them compared with nine Thursday and all were losers.

Benguet once again was most popular with 131,900 shares closing down 1/2.

Stock prices tumbled all along the line on the American Exchange. Trading was moderately active.

Gold also lost after Thursday's upsurge which followed the clamor for the metal in the London bullion market.

ICC Rules Broken In Fatal Crash

Driver Inexperience, Faulty Equipment Blamed In Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said Friday that driver inexperience and faulty equipment led to the fatal runaway of an acid-carrying truck near Luke, Md., on Aug. 2.

The truck, transporting 2,500 gallons of muriatic acid and other chemicals, went out of control on the eastern slope of Backbone Mountain and finally struck two parked pulpwood trucks.

Thomas Lee Farmer, 21, of Belle, W. Va., driver of the acid truck, and Glen M. Snyder, 26, of Levels, W. Va., one of the pulpwood drivers, were killed. The third driver, Olen McDonald, 33, of Marysville, W. Va., was injured.

The ICC said the acid truck driver had been handling heavy commercial vehicles for only a short time and that when his truck started gaining momentum on the downgrade "he was unable to cope with the emergency situation."

Also, commission investigators reported, the truck's brakes had failed and a break had occurred in a universal joint, so that it was impossible to use the engine for braking purposes.

The report added that the driver apparently had been on duty for more than 15 hours "and may have been seriously fatigued."

The acid truck was being operated for a Cleveland, Ohio, division of Dow Chemical Co.

The ICC said it will "take such action as appears warranted" in connection with what it termed the indicated violations of its safety regulations.

City Collects 77 Per Cent Of Tax Levy

The City of Cumberland took in some $228,000 of 1960 taxes yesterday.

This amount, collected by 2:30 p. m., brought total collections on 1960 taxes to the $964,561 mark.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner, said the total represents 77.35 per cent of the $1,247,000 tax levy.

She added that the department hopes to collect about 85 per cent by Monday night, the deadline for payment of taxes at par.

Payments may be made at par at the tax office Monday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and by letters postmarked not later than midnight.

Interest at the rate of one-half per cent a month is charged after Monday and goes back to August 22, the date the levy was set.

Partial payments will be accepted, of course, and can ease the interest payments for those who cannot pay the entire bill.

A considerable portion of the tax money will be put to work at once to earn interest under the city policy of purchasing treasury notes with any funds which are not needed for a month or so.

Dr. Wood To Discuss Nurse Home

Rev. Dr. Robert L. Wood, executive secretary of the proposed Baltimore Conference Nursing Home, will be the guest speaker Sunday at Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor of the Cresaptown Church, said Dr. Wood will preach at both the 8:30 and 11 a. m. services.

Recently the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church elected a board of directors to work out plans for a nursing home to serve the aged and infirm.

Rev. Dr. Wood was elected executive secretary and is visiting Methodist groups in Maryland, District of Columbia and parts of West Virginia, to outline plans for the nursing home.

Plans, which are in the process of development, call for a facility of about 100 beds, equipped to give skilled nursing care to individuals who are not able because of sickness or infirmity to enter a standard home for the aged.

Rev. Dr. Wood is a retired minister and former district superintendent of the Baltimore West District. He has spent two years as director of public relations for the Board of Child Care of the Baltimore Conference.

The field day program, attended by over 60 foresters, public officials, farmers and land owners, included a variety of forestry demonstrations.

Those in attendance saw a portable debarker which is used in preparing pulpwood, and a mist blower used to spray insects and control brush.

Mr. Acebes is a student of the primitive cultures and customs of Africa and an ardent big game hunter. His explorations and experiences in the center of much of the world's present conflict will give Cumberland people new insights in problems currently before the United Nations.

Mr. Acebes will arrive in Cumberland at 4 p. m. Monday and will be the guest of the YMCA committee at dinner before his evening program. Kitty Koegle and members of the Allegany Tri-Hi-Y Club will be hostesses at the lecture. Francis D. Verdery will introduce the speaker.

Single tickets for this program or series tickets may be purchased at the YMCA or at the fellowship hall Monday night. High school and college students may obtain reduced-price tickets upon identification.

The program Thursday night included an audio-visual presentation by George M. Griffith showing the procedure of an instrument flight.

Mr. Griffith showed a series of charts and played records of an actual successful instrument flight.

The officers will be installed at the second annual pilots' dinner Saturday, October 29, at the Cumberland Country Club. Guest speaker for the event will be E. A. "Pete" Goff Jr., assistant to the president of Link Aviation.

Reservations must be made by October 26 and tickets may be obtained from John Nash, local airport manager, or Mrs. Isabelle Dawson at Gurley's Garage on South Liberty Street.

Flying Group Elects Robson As President

Request For Radio Range Is Endorsed

Edward Robson, a supervisor for Swift and Company, has been elected president of the Cumberland Flying Association.

Other officers elected at Thursday night's meeting held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport include G. Wyatt Brenaman, vice president; Mrs. Robert K. Poling, recording secretary; Mrs. George S. Nash, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Bruce H. Dawson, treasurer.

Mr. Robson succeeds Eugene M. Light as president of the local flying organization.

In other action at the meeting, the association voted to endorse a letter written by Lewis J. Ort, local businessman and pilot, to Sen. J. Glenn Beall, requesting a high frequency radio range for the local airport.

Mr. Ort has requested Sen. Beall to intercede with the FFA for the high frequency radio range and for a toll-free line to Martinsburg, W. Va., airport to assist local pilots in getting weather and flight information.

The letter by Mr. Ort stated the federal government provides these services free if there are enough planes in the area. Mr. Ort pointed out there are now between 40 and 50 planes using the local facilities.

Audit Indicates County Finances In Good Shape

$388,278 Surplus Cited In Report

Allegany County's financial status is in good shape, according to the annual audit of the treasurer's books.

As a matter of fact, the county finished up business on June 30 with a surplus of $388,278 with no increase in the tax rate.

And as of the balance sheet date all financial corporation taxes and 98.34 per cent of all general property taxes levied for the current year had been collected, says James P. Rogers, CPA, Towson, who audited the books of the treasurer.

The report compiled by Mr. Rogers indicates the total revenue receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30 were $4,711,380.77.

The total operating expenses, he noted, were $3,799,680.17 plus $183,692.59 interest charges and $606,323.56 debt redemption — the total outlay for the year.

Where It Come From

About 77.15 cents of each dollar of the revenue was derived from real and personal property tax payers who shouldered the load. The inclusion of state-shared taxes added up to 92.8 cents of each dollar used in operating the county.

Expenditures for the operation of public schools accounted for 42.05 cents of each dollar and the debt service on school loans was 13.19 cents—a total of 55.24 cents of each dollar.

This overall figure does not include retired teachers' pensions or motor vehicle license fees paid to the school board, said Mr. Rogers.

Round figures show that receipts collected include general property taxes of $3,634,971.41; state-shared taxes, $737,919.19; licenses and permits, $77,931.17; use of money and property, $41,464.14; fines and forfeitures, $19,186.41.

Where It Went

Where did the money go? The cost of operating the public schools was $1,929,051.02, and general government expenses $362,736.87. This includes county commissioners, courts, registration and election, tax office and assessing department etc.

The highway program's slice was $449,474.44 and public safety required $81,153.06, among other expenses.

The county's contribution to pensions for employees was $100,328.98 including social security taxes and the pension for teachers and other employees on the county payroll.

Lori Martin (National Velvet) One In Thousand

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

When we prepared our notes for the interview with Lori Martin, star of "National Velvet," it was a little trepidation. A child star was something different.

What to say, how to talk! Would she be embarrassingly precocious like the "quiz kid" variety? Our first eight of Lori playing with a child's game on the sofa in her hotel suite in New York allayed all fears. Here was a child no different from any other 13-year-old girl true, gifted with an unusual acting ability, but at the same time, still a child, sweet, with a twinkle in her blue eyes as we were introduced.

Actually, our fears were not

Thus, Lori Martin became the one girl in almost a thousand to be chosen. Strangely enough, Lori was found almost in Hollywood's own backyard, Burbank, Calif. She is the daughter of Russell and Dora Mae Menzer; her father is an art director at Warner Brothers Studio.

"We needed not only a competent child actress who was pretty and had a 'velvety' look," he explained, "but one who also was an expert horsewoman. Lori filled the bill," Maxwell said.

Lori has a fraternal twin sister, Doreen, an older sister, Jean, 16 and a brother, Stephen 11. Lori, who attends school in Burbank when she is not before the cameras, has always wanted to be an actress. Lori's mother said: "She was always play-acting even when a small child."

Lori, at seven years of age, did a commercial for Chevrolet. A number of commercials followed and at the age of eight, she appeared on the "Medic" program. Taking dramatic lessons at the same time, she has since been seen on "Alfred Hitchcock Presents," "Wagon Train" and "Leave It to Beaver."

When Lori was first being considered for "National Velvet," she immediately read the Enid Bagnold book and her heart became set on playing the role. She didn't want to do any other film or TV work, her thoughts were so much with Velvet.

On the subject of reading, Lori is a lover of books—she read 80 of them last summer.

LORI MARTIN

without reason for Lori was one girl in almost a thousand. Finding the right girl to play the part of Velvet Brown, the role that catapulted Elizabeth Taylor to stardom in the film "National Velvet," for the new television series was a monumental job. The final choice wasn't made even after 974 young aspirants for the role were interviewed. It wasn't until after screen tests were made of six of the hopefuls that executive producer Robert Maxwell and producer Rudy Abel made their choice.
